COUNTY OFFICERS (CONTINUED): Let's see, now, we've taken up the sheriff, county clerk, county treasurer, county judge and superintendent of schools in our articles listing those who have served in Saline county offices, and that leaves the state's attorney, circuit clerk and coroner. We'll wrap them up today.

State's attorneys were appointed by the General Assembly until 1849, then elected by the circuit district electorate to 1872. Thus, the first Saline county state's attorney was in 1872, when James M. Gregg was named. He was re-elected in 1876.

Melton in 1936, Trafton Dennis in 1940, K. C. Ronalds in 1944, Clyde A. Whiteside in 1948, Duane E. Cavender Jr., appointed in 1950 following death of Whiteside, Glen O. Jones, elected to fill unexpired term in 1951 and elected to full term in 1952.

Prior to 1848 circuit clerks were appointed by circuit judges, and the first one elected, in 1848, was James M. Gaston.

Hiram Burnett was clerk in 1852 and 1856, and others up to the present were:

Thomas A. Jones 1860, Thomas G. Reynolds 1864, Warner E. Burnett 1868, Stern W. Forgy 1872, John M. Gregg (appointed to succeed Forgy) Jan. 11, 1876, Thomas Y. Reynolds 1876 and 1880, William H. Thornberry 1884, Thomas Y. Reynolds 1888, John H. Lee 1892 and 1896, Ed M. Stricklin 1900, Isaac R. Tuttle 1904 and 1908, James T. Gram 1912, Roy E. Holmes 1916 and 1920, Inez Wilson 1924, 1928, 1932 and 1936, Verne E. Joyner 1940 and 1944, James R. Burroughs 1948 and Quentin Bowers 1952.

Father Saves Two Boys from Burning House

Were Children of
Mr. and Mrs. Amos
Brooks, Bowlesville

Two baby girls burned to death in their farm home in Bowlesville township, Gallatin county, about 10 a. m. today.

They were Wanda Sue, one year, and Linda Kaye, about four months, the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Brooks, who resided on the Reedy Ellis farm in the southwest part of the township near the Hardin county line.

State Policeman Michael Taggart said that the father saved two boys, about four and five years old, by going into the flaming house and taking them out, but that he could not locate the baby girls.

Edward Redick of Shawneetown, who was nearby when the fire was discovered, also vainly tried to bring out the two babies.

Bodies Found On Cot

The mother was outside washing clothing and the father was a short distance away working on a plow when the mother noticed that the roof was ablaze. The father ran into the house and succeeded only in saving the boys. The one-story four-room house went up in flames in a hurry, it was stated. Only after the fire had subsided were the charred bodies of the babies found on a cot. The bodies were removed to the Wright funeral home in Shawneetown.

Cause of the fire was not determined. Coroner Charles Cox of Ridgeway said that the inquest would be held at 7 p. m. Friday in the Gallatin county court house at New Shawneetown.

Brooks is a farm laborer. The family had resided on the Ellis farm for a little more than a month.

He is a World War II veteran with three years service, 27 months overseas. He worked at the Mitchell furniture store here for five years.

This is Mr. Dabney's first time for running for public office.

Joe Meek

Meek Explains His Policies in Address Here

GOP Candidate for
U. S. Senate Meets
With Committeemen

Joe Meek, one of 11 candidates for the Republican nomination for United States senator in the April primary, came to town last night and stated his cause to committeemen from six counties.

Meek entertained the group with steak dinner at the Kurto country club. He did not ask anybody to commit himself to Joe Meek for senator, but stated why he believed he was the man to beat U. S. Senator Paul Douglas in November.

"I know the big question in your minds tonight," he said, "is if I can beat Paul Douglas."

"I wouldn't have got in this race if I thought that I couldn't," he said as he answered his own question, and continued:

"I believe Douglas' weakness is his socialist concepts. He wants to go to the government to solve our problems. I want the people to solve their own problems."

What does Meek stand for?

He said that the government must reduce taxes and get rid of controls.

"As long as the government has money to spend, it's going to spend it," he stated. "We must first reduce taxes and give up some of these things we're spending money for."

"And on this control business, I'm against having the government coming and bailing us out when we get into trouble."

Regarding foreign policy, he declared there are two great ideologies today, the Communist with its anti-Christ theory, and ours, with Christ in the picture, and added:

"I believe in helping other countries, but not at the expense of weakening the United States. I definitely am not for going into the red to keep other countries in the black."

Other points in his talk:

He is for the Bricker amendment which would curb presidential powers in treaty making;

He would like to see the government put defense plants in southern Illinois;

He is for rewarding the deserving workers of the winning party with good jobs, keeping only those in categories of highly specialized work and those who had devoted a lifetime to their careers on strict Civil Service.

Meek was introduced by Robert G. Miley, chairman of the Saline County Republican Central committee. Miley pointed out that Meek, a resident of Western Springs, in Lyons township, Cook county, has been known for years as a champion of the "little fellow."

For several years Meek has been president of the Illinois Federation of Retail associations.

Committeemen were present from Hamilton, White, Gallatin, Hardin, Massac and Saline counties.

The Harrisburg Township high school has collected $149.94 and $143 has been received from the Dorrisville school.

Demos Show Resentment at GOP Attacks

White House
Says Republicans
Only Giving Facts

WASHINGTON (AP)—A White House spokesman said today Republican leaders were only giving "the facts" in attacks which provoked widespread protests among top Democrats.

But the spokesman, Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, parried a question as to whether he thinks they will continue. Democratic leaders have warned they would lead to decreasing support of the administration's legislative program.

Republican leaders in and out of Congress have linked the Democratic party with subversion in government. Presidential assistant Sherman Adams last Saturday called the Democrats "political sadists," saying they would promote a "feal deal" by trying to talk the country into a depression.

But Democrats furnished evidence they are smarting under the tongue-lashing and will strike back at every chance.

Their resentment carried an implied threat that they may not always be cooperative about working on the Eisenhower administration's program in Congress, where the Democrats are little short of a majority in both the House and Senate.

Responsible party spokesmen said, however, that any non-cooperation would more likely affect the amount of the program which clears Congress rather than its substance.

Many Republicans are making speeches around the country this week observing the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, the first GOP president. They have stepped up their charges that past Democratic administrations have been soft toward Communists in government.

Sen. William E. Jenner (R-Ind.) charged in St. Paul, Minn., Monday night that Democratic Fair Dealers "opened the gates of the citadel to the Communists." In a series of speeches, Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said Democrats carry "the stain of historic betrayal."

Democrats who were already doing a slow burn about such charges have become increasingly resentful.

House Democratic Leader Sam Rayburn told the House Monday that "mean, untrue and dastardly" charges were being thrown at the Democratic party. He said in effect that President Eisenhower could stop the attacks if he wished.

The White House was studying the remarks but there was no indication of when or if it will reply.

In the Senate, meanwhile, Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) called on Mr. Eisenhower to embrace or repudiate the charges. He said the GOP is sowing discord when national unity is needed.

Four Saline County IPAC Office Workers Suspended; One Resigns

Charges Are Filed Against Ray Owens,
Mary Field, Harold Nash and Louise McNab

The regional office of the Illinois Public Aid commission at Carbondale today revealed that four persons employed in the Saline county IPAC office had been suspended for "general inefficiency and neglect of duty" and that one of them resigned following notification of the suspension.

This action came 13 months after the Republican administration of Gov. William Stratton took over the duties of state, following a four-year Democratic administration of Gov. Adlai Stevenson.

Waves Turn Gay Florida Festival Into Tragedy

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Wind-whipped waves which wrecked seven boats turned the gay Gasparilla Festival into tragedy with one teen-aged boy dead, another missing and 100 persons rescued in dramatic fashion.

As a multitude of boats attending the annual celebration at Tampa, across Tampa Bay from this west coast winter resort, began the trip back Monday, winds up to 45 miles an hour stirred up seven-foot waves which disabled a motor vessel carrying 55 persons and overturned a small skiff with four boys aboard. The occupants of the pleasure ship were towed to safety in rubber rafts.

The youths' craft, a 14-foot motor boat, was capsized on a sand bar by pounding waves and two of the boys, Larry Roberts, 15, and Chat Atkins, 16, attempted to swim here to bring help for their companions, William Griffin, 16, and Bob Caruthers, 16.

Young Roberts was dragged out of the chilly waters at Tampa six hours later, exhausted and nearly incoherent. Atkins was still missing today.

A Coast Guard amphibian picked up the two youths who remained with the overturned craft, but young Griffin, son of Dr. Martin Griffin, prominent St. Petersburg psychologist, died en route to a hospital. Caruthers was in "very serious" condition.

The motor vessel, the 75-foot Miss Birmingham, which numbered many women and aged winter visitors among its passengers, drifted around a mile from its wharf here when its anchor failed to hold in the tossing seas.

All available police in the area and a dozen members of the Coast Guard auxiliary teamed to ferry 55 passengers safely to the beach in rubber life rafts as the surf pounded the ship to pieces.

The Coast Guard reported at least five other boat mishaps, including the 21-foot White Swan with 26 persons aboard which limped into St. Petersburg with its bow crushed, but all were believed out of danger.

The body now lies in state at the chapel of the Harrisburg funeral home.

Four Korean Vets Robbed of $1,642 In Discharge Pay

CHICAGO (AP)—Two men tricked and robbed four Korean war veterans of $1,642 in discharge pay within hours after they were paid.

The money and a wrist watch from each man was taken from Harold Cox, 21, New Harmony, Ind., Robert Pattee, 22, Manchester, Ind., Duane Halverson, 20, Bagley, Minn., and Richard Horke, 23, Dieterich, Ill.

The soldiers said they accepted an offer of a ride to Chicago for $1 each from two men, dressed in GI work uniforms. Upon arriving in the city's South Side, the men drew .45 caliber automatics and robbed them.

Horke lost $490, Cox and Halverson $430 each, and Pattee $292.

States Given Free Rein in Search, Seizure

WASHINGTON (AP)—An unusual Supreme Court decision gave states free rein today to use evidence obtained by "lawless" search and seizure to prosecute suspected criminals.

This kind of evidence has been barred from federal courts for 40 years. But the high bench ruled 5-4 Monday that the ban cannot be applied in state trials.

The decision was an important interpretation of the Bill of Rights guarantee that citizens shall be free "in their houses . . . against unreasonable searches and seizures."

All nine justices denounced the methods Long Beach, Calif., police used to collect information to convict gambler Patrick E. Irvine. But the majority said their hands were tied by previous Supreme Court decisions and upheld Irvine's conviction.

In an angry dissent, Justice William O. Douglas protested his colleagues approved "police state" methods with the decision.

The California police broke into Irvine's home—in his absence—on four different occasions to plant microphones, drill a hole in his roof and string telephone wires to a neighbor's garage. The information they obtained from "eavesdropping" on household conversations for a month was used at Irvine's trial.

"Few police measures have come to our attention that more flagrantly, deliberately and persistently violated the fundamental principle of the Fourth Amendment, Justice Robert H. Jackson said for the five-man majority.

But, Jackson said, the Supreme Court is powerless under its own prior decisions to order a reversal of the conviction.

The majority thus stood by a long line of decisions which held that unlawfully-seized evidence can be used in state trials—although barred by the Fourth Amendment from federal trials.

Justices Felix Frankfurter and Harold H. Burton dissented, too, but refused to vote to overturn the precedent decision. Justice Tom C. Clark said he voted with the majority "with great reluctance" and only because a majority of the court refused to reverse the precedent.

At the suggestion of Chief Justice Earl Warren and Jackson, the Justice Department ordered an investigation to see if federal civil rights statutes were violated by the Long Beach police.

In a side ruling on the case, the court held the gamblers are not immune from state gambling prosecutions just because they have registered and paid a tax under the federal gambling law.

Joint Meeting Held Monday Night by Junior Chamber of Commerce, Rotary

Harrisburg Jaycees met with the Rotary club last night in a special joint session at the regular weekly meeting hour of the latter organization.

Rotary president D. H. Hiller introduced Verner Joyner Jr., president of the Jaycees, who spoke to the group on the various projects of that organization.

Joyner mentioned the street markers as the first major project undertaken by the Jaycees, stating that the club intended to complete placement of these this summer.

Four annual projects of the organization were also listed. The Saline Co. Fair beauty contest and auto show was mentioned as the Jaycees' chief money-making event of the year. Three other non-profit projects staged annually are the Teen-Age Road-co, Christmas party for kids, and a benefit basketball game for the March of Dimes.

Included briefly by Joyner in his review of Jaycee activities was the organization's part in the centennial, the scotch-lite and Lite-A-Lawn programs, and recent independent basketball games to benefit the band uniform fund.

Says Victory is Possible Without American Help

Statement on Pilots
Follows Disclosure
Of French Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson declared emphatically today that no American pilots will be sent to fight in Indochina.

Wilson also told a news conference a military victory over the Communists without direct American intervention is "both possible and probable."

He did say, however, that Lt. Gen. John W. O'Daniel, commander of U. S. Army forces in the Pacific, "might be sent" to Indochina. Presumably he would head a new U. S. military mission. But Wilson was vague in discussing what O'Daniel will do after completing conferences here with the Joint Chiefs of Staff and high civilian officials.

Wilson's statement that no American pilots will be sent to Indochina followed disclosure that France had asked this country for transport pilots in the battle with Communist rebels—a move that would have put American airmen closer than ever before to actual combat operations in the Indochina War.

State and Defense Department officials were understood to have raised strong objections on grounds the action might commit this country too deeply in the Southeast Asian struggle and produce serious political repercussions.

In a generally optimistic appraisal of the Indochina situation, Wilson said a military victory is "perhaps both possible and probable." But he said there is a "question of who shows up," a reference to possible aid from Red China. That he said, would "delay" victory and post a "different problem."

He then said that Red China's ability to supply Communists in Indochina is "very limited" because of poor rail and water transport.

The war in Indochina is going "fully as well as we expected it to at this stage," Wilson said.

A brief but significant Senate debate Monday showed that congressmen are becoming increasingly anxious over possible further American involvement in Indochina.

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) said the "swiftly developing crisis" could end in a Red victory or "the entanglement of the United States in another Korean situation."

In an unusual move, Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland and Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.) interrupted to give their assurances the administration does not at present intend to send more military forces to Indochina.

Although the pilots requested by France would be for transports, officials pointed out they probably would have to fly over Red-held territory and run the risk of being shot down and possibly captured.

Instead of sending Air Force pinet cypresses said, might be possible to recruit civilians which would make the operation somewhat less official. But authorities emphasized that the whole matter still is in the discussion stage.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Two Roosevelt Careers Threatened By Jimmy's Marital Mix-Up; Franklin's New York Gov-
ernatorial Chances May Suffer; Mystery Of 1945 Letter Puzzles Closest Friends.

LOS ANGELES. — This is the story of Jimmy Roosevelt, a boy of great promise, whose political life and that of his brother Franklin
now hang in the hands of a wrathful woman and her bitterly anti-Roosevelt attorney.

It is a story of a man with his father's charm, considerable ability, who has made mistakes, plenty of them, but who started to build a promising political life for himself in California. It is also the story of two brothers who, in a sense, were political rivals, one with an ambition to be governor of New York, the other to be governor of California; both of which ambitions may be wrecked by Jimmy's marital troubles.

Running through the story also is an overtone of intrigue by certain political enemies who see in Jimmy's "woman trouble" a chance to kill off two men who might come close to or even enter the White House.

Jimmy Roosevelt's marriage
with Romelle Schneider can be divided roughly into two categories.
The first years, according to their friends, were a period when he made every effort to make their marriage successful. The second period includes the last four years or so, when it was apparent to friends in California that the Roosevelt marriage was pretty well on the rocks.

SUICIDE ATTEMPT
This period began when Jimmy ran for governor of California and when Romelle made an attempt at suicide. The incident was brushed off as a mistaken overdose of sleeping pills, but unfortunately it was not. For a time, Romelle received psychiatric treatment at a Santa Monica hospital, and for a time Mrs. FDR Sr. had her own psychiatrist give the treatments.
But Romelle rebelled on the ground that her religious training did not permit such treatment.

It was just before the 1950 campaign for governor of California that Romelle threatened to publish the now-famous 1945 letter involving Jimmy in intimate relations with nine women. This letter, it now develops, had been hanging over Jimmy's head for some time;
and shortly before his campaign
for governor his wife demanded that he do three things or she would publish it.

The three things were that he take her abroad; that he transfer one of his partners in the insurance business to the eastern part of the United States; and that he deed to her one-half of his insurance business.

Jimmy complied with all three,
taking his wife to Europe before the campaign for governor started,
and also transferring his business
associate, a former Marine Corps veteran to whom Romelle had taken a violent dislike.

During the gubernatorial campaign that followed, Romelle was a good sport, accompanying Jimmy on most of his trips, though toward the end she got irked at Helen Gahagan, Douglas, the Democratic candidate for the Senate, and stayed at home.

As in every marital dispute,
there is a lot to be said on both sides. And this dispute would have attracted little attention, certainly would not merit discussion in this column, were it not for its political reverberations — not only in the Democratic party in California but in regard to the next Democratic governor of New York.

social set in which Jimmy traveled. She came to Washington and did her best, but always felt out of place. This aroused her suspicion and jealousy.

A beautiful girl, Romelle just did not understand the background of political and social atmosphere in which Jimmy had lived all his life. And it is quite conceivable, as Jimmy now says, that casual flirtations or even acquaintances with the nine women named in his letter might have been magnified
in Romelle's mind into something else.

Finally, Romelle was a Catholic and Jimmy a divorced man. In the eyes of her church, therefore,
she was not married, and as the years went on this preyed on her conscience heavily.

The three children were brought up as Catholics, but Romelle used to tell them, sometimes tearfully, that she could not join them in some of the church ritual because she was not acceptable to the church which she loved and under whose guidance she had been reared.

WHY THE LETTER??
As to why Jimmy ever signed the famous 1945 letter, not even his best friends quite know. One reason, they say, was that Jimmy believed that if he yielded to his wife's very sincere ideas on repentance and a purge of the soul,
then they could begin all over again. Probably, also, the controlling factor was that Jimmy knew his father in February of 1945 was in extremely bad health and that his life might easily be snuffed out by an emotional strain
or disappointment.

Jimmy was the apple of his father's eye. For a time the elder Roosevelt had brought Jimmy to Washington as his executive assistant, to have him nearby and train him in the ways of government. Knowing how keenly disappointed his father was at the first marital break-up, Jimmy knew that news of another would be too much. So he signed — and had the threat of that letter hanging over him for nine years.

Before Jimmy Roosevelt decided to run for Congress, he conducted a survey of the 26th California congressional district. Naturally, he was concerned as to what effect
his divorce would have on his race for Congress. The survey showed that 11 per cent of the voters in that district would not favor a divorced candidate, but 84 per cent
said it should make no difference.
And, of Catholic voters, only 14
per cent felt that a divorce mattered in a congressional candidate, while 81 per cent believed it should not matter.

The survey also showed that Jimmy could win the race for Congress easily. The district had just been gerrymandered by the Republican legislature in Sacramento
in order to include as many Democratic votes as possible, thereby making other congressional districts easier for the Republicans to carry.

In fact, Jimmy might still be able to win — if he wants to stick it out. If he does, however, he will probably kill his brother Franklin's chances to be governor of New York.

And, despite the political rivalry between the two boys, the last thing the elder Roosevelt wants to do is to diminish his brother's chances. Actually, they may be seriously hurt anyway. But it is almost certain that, because of this, Jimmy will bow out.

Healing Campaign

Here Continues

The Haynes Healing campaign continues this week at the First Apostolic church on South Granger street.

The Rev. Louie Durfee, pastor, reported today that during the five weeks that the campaign has been under way the crowds have filled
the church, sometimes to overflowing, and that much good work has been done.

(SHU)—A corduroy road was one crossed with logs, poles or rails.
It was called "corduroy" because the surface resembled the ridges
on corduroy cloth.

WSOS Meets at Methodist Church

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church met in the church parlor Feb. 4, at 7 p. m. for its regular meeting.

The meeting was called to order and prayer offered by the president, Mae Hitchcock.

Roll call was answered by each member naming a missionary and telling where they are.

After the business had been taken care of, Mrs. Bertha Rann gave the devotion, using as her theme,
"The Master Calls Us to Service."

Mrs. Mabel Milligan had charge of the lesson for the evening which was about how the Methodist issued rural Negroes. Mrs. Pauline Thornhill sang the spiritual,
"Steal Away," in keeping with the lesson.

The hostesses, Mrs. Florence
Herrin and Mrs. Mae Hitchcock, gave each one present a candy
filled valentine box.

Those present were: Mrs. Mabel Milligan, Mrs. Wilma Gullledge,
Mrs. Carrie Edmondson, Mrs. Pan-

Predict New Indictment in Surplus Ships

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Department sources predicted today that new indictments will be made as a result of its widespread investigation of fabulous surplus ship deals.

These sources indicated that,
like the indictment made public Monday, formal charges already have been brought before the courts by grand juries, but have remained sealed and unavailable
to the public pending the arrest or surrender of some of the defendants.

It was intimated that some of these defendants are not now in this country. To disclose that they are under indictment, these sources said, would hamper chances of ever bringing them into a court.

The first major indictment in the department's surplus ship investigation was opened Monday. It accused nine persons and six corporations of conspiring to defraud
the government and to file false statements with the government in connection with the postwar purchase of surplus vessels.

Former Congressman Indicted

Among those indicted were former Rep. Joseph E. Casey (D-Mass.) and Aristoteles S. Onassis, wealthy Greece-born shipbuilder

and operator who owns Monte Carlo Casino.

Arraigned promptly before Federal Judge Bolitha Laws, Onassis pleaded innocent and was released in $10,000 bail.

Casey, who served in Congress
from 1935 until 1943, was reported to be on a "roving vacation" in Florida and unavailable for comment.

Casey figured prominently in an investigation of the Senate's Permanent Investigating Committee into postwar tanker purchases. The committee charged that Casey headed a group that made a profit of $3,250,000 on a "get rich quick" tanker purchase and re-sale deal that required only a $101,000 original investment.

Wanted Settlers

Greenland, according to a Scan-danavian saga, got its name in 985
A. D., when Eric the Red named it that in order to induce colonists from Iceland to settle in the new country.

Oldest Fort
The Castillo de San Marcos, at St. Augustine, Florida, is the oldest masonry fort in the United States.
Its walls, from nine to 16 feet thick,
are of coquina, a native marine shell-rock. Construction of the fort was started in 1672 by the Spanish, who founded St. Augustine in 1565.

George Ferguson, Psychologist At Anna State Hospital, Speaks To Woman's Club

The Harrisburg Woman's club met in the public library Monday afternoon for the program on "Public Health and Welfare."

The president, Mrs. J. J. Klein, opened the meeting by asking Mrs. J. A. Bottomley to lead in the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. Mrs. D. H. Hiller directed the song, "America, the Beautiful."

Mrs. Warren Tuttle, chairman for the afternoon, gave a short talk on the Red Cross and the bloodmobile and their importance to our community. She told of ways to go about getting blood in another community and the charge that is required if our county does not respond to the Red Cross call for blood. She went on to say that the bloodmobile would be in Carrier Mills, March 16, and in Harrisburg, March 17, and that the campaign was for the purpose of making people aware of the bloodmobile program.

Mrs. DeWitt Twente announced that the annual Silver Tea would be held Monday, Feb. 22, from 2 to 5 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Hudson Mudge, 314 West Church street. She added that there would be musical entertainment throughout the afternoon, and that the public was cordially invited.

Mrs. E. B. Webster then led the group in reading "The Club Woman's Creed," and Mrs. Perry Moore entertained with a musical selection entitled "Nocturne in G Minor" by Chopin. She told of Chopin's state of depression and the setting for this famous piece of work.

Mrs. Tuttle introduced the guest speaker for the afternoon, George Ferguson, a psychologist at the Anna State hospital, who spoke on "Mental Hygiene." He began his talk by saying that mental health was a community problem, and that environment caused a patient to be in the condition that he is in; therefore, if he is cured and goes back to the same community, the condition will recur.

Mr. Ferguson stated that what to do with old people was becoming a problem, and that a new hospital in Galesburg has been built for the purpose of studying old folks. Another problem is the young delinquent group who take up narcotics, and a third major problem was the alcoholic. From three to five percent of the patients at Anna hospital are alcoholics, he went on to say. Alcoholics are persons who drink to relieve tension from some thing or for some reason that they, themselves, do not know. He added that there is no cure.

He pointed out that in Anna hospital a ministerial alliance has been formed for a counseling service. A minister will be at the hospital at all times to talk to anyone who has a problem.

After he had concluded his speech, an open discussion and question and answer period was held.

After the meeting adjourned, coffee and cookies were served as refreshments.

Panthers or mountain lions, called "panthers" or "pauthers" by the early settlers of Southern Illinois, were found in the hill sections when the first settlers came. The last record of one killed in this area was in Hardin County in 1890.

Passenger pigeons, once appearing by the millions in Southern Illinois, are now extinct.

A dirty air cleaner in an automobile results in low gasoline mileage and often causes the motor to miss at high speeds, due to insufficient air entering the carburetor.

Detroit Declared Unemployment Area by Government

WASHINGTON — The Labor Department Monday night declared the automobile city of Detroit a "substantial" unemployment area, making it eligible for government aid in securing government contracts.

The action brought to 21 the number of major industrial centers now classified as having "substantial" unemployment — more than 6 per cent of the area's labor force out of work. Thirty-one smaller areas have also been declared in that category.

In a special survey of the Detroit area, the department reported that state figures showed 107,
000 unemployed in mid-January.
It said unemployment continued to rise through the end of the month.

The department said "some" improvement in employment in Detroit is expected by mid-May. But, even if these expectations are realized, it said, the number of jobless is still expected to be at a "substantial" level at that time.

Capital Children Take Lincoln Shrine for Granted

SPRINGFIELD — The Springfield Board of Education was told Monday night that more children from out-of-town than from Springfield visit the city's Lincoln shrines.

Today a plan for a "Pilgrimage Day" to the shrines for Springfield school children was being drawn up.

Insurance agent Dwight O'Keefe Jr., a board member, told the board Springfield children take Lincoln for granted. O'Keefe said he took his own children to Lincoln's tomb and the custodian expressed surprise on learning they were from Springfield.

O'Keefe said the register at the tomb indicated few Springfield children ever see the tomb. He recommended the pilgrimage day on or about Lincoln's Birthday, Feb. 12, and commented:

"The shrines are a tremendous training aid that we are probably not utilizing to the fullest."

The board passed his resolution for the pilgrimage day. Then the adults present did some soul-searching of their own on appreciation of the Lincoln tomb and home here, and the nearby village of New Salem, where Lincoln lived before coming to Springfield.

Mrs. Henrietta Herndon, a board member, confessed she hadn't been to the home "in years" although she lives within a block and a half.

Walter Smith, a grade school teacher, said Springfield residents, including children, see the shrines only when guiding out-of-town relatives and friends.

Youth Commission Has Jurisdiction Over Juvenile Felons

SPRINGFIELD — Atty. Gen. Latham Castle today handed down an official opinion stating the new Illinois Youth Commission has jurisdiction over convicted juvenile felons.

Castle, answering questions asked by State's Atty. John C. Friedland of Kane county, said:

1. Girls under 18 and boys under 17 convicted of a felony must be committed to the Youth Commission by the court.

2. The sentences given the juveniles must be for the term provided by law for the offense committed. The trial judge cannot set minimum and maximum limits on the sentence within the indeterminate term provided by law, as he now can do for older felons.

3. The Youth Commission determines the length of sentence served within the legal limits but may transfer offenders to the Department of Safety when they exceed the age limits.

UN Charges Reds
Smuggle Warplanes
To Korea Airfields

PANMUNJOM, Korea. — The United Nations Command charged today that the Communists have smuggled warplanes from Manchuria to nine airfields in North Korea in violation of the armistice agreement.

American Maj. Gen. J. K. Lacey, a member of the Joint Military Armistice Commission, also accused the Reds of shipping unidentified "combat material" into North Korea over rail and road routes that

Boy, 2, Struck By Baby-Sitter And Mother, Dies

CHICAGO — Authorities investigating the death of a 2-year-old boy found the case confused today by confessions that both his baby-sitter and mother had struck him.

It was also learned the child, Leonard J. Dailey, had suffered a fall from his crib.

The boy died Sunday in County Hospital of peritonitis, which developed from a ruptured intestine. Doctors said the rupture could have been caused by a blow.

The 13 year old baby sitter, Yvonne Smith, admitted she slapped him "a few times when he would not obey" Saturday night, the state's attorney's office said.

Her family then charged that Mrs. Nami Dailey, a waitress, had sometimes beaten Leonard and another of her five children and fed them "only beans."

Assistant State's Atty. Joseph McGovern said Mrs. Dailey, whose husband deserted her about a year ago, said she had struck Leonard on a few occasions.

She said that after she returned home early Sunday she found the boy's eye bruised. A short time later, she said, he fell from his crib and she rushed him to the hospital.

Three Fined for Possession of Gambling Devices

PINCKNEYVILLE, Ill. — An East St. Louis man has been fined for possession of a gambling device and similar charges have been issued against two Du Quoin men, Perry County Sheriff Craig Templeton said today.

Kenneth J. Keller, 37, East St. Louis, pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and costs in Perry County Court here Monday. Templeton said information charging the same offense had been issued for Joe Scoffie, Du Quoin hotel operator, and Louis Reed.

Templeton said state policeman Max Bradley spotted Keller Sunday driving a dump truck carrying a dice table. Authorities said Scoffie led Keller to Reed's farm south of Du Quoin where the table was seized as the men prepared to store it.

Templeton planned to serve the informations on Scoffie and Reed today.

Air Force Seeks Advice on Tortured Airmen

WASHINGTON — The Air Force is determined to have the best medical and judicial advice available before deciding what to do about airmen who broke under torture and "confessed" to germ war charges.

Cases of more than 50 former prisoners in Korea — men who "confessed" plus those accused of "ratting" on comrades to win Communist favors — are under study by a five-man board of general officers.

Aware that it has a peculiar problem — airmen often were singled by the enemy for extreme torture, if not death — the Air Force called in Dr. Charles W. Mayo immediately after its board was set up Monday.

Mayo got world attention as a United States representative at the United Nations last Oct. 26 when he told how the Reds "broke" prisoners and wrung out "confessions." Some of the tortures, he said, were terrible in their effects — more subtle, more prolonged — more terrible in their effects — than medieval racks and thumbscrews.

He gave the Air Force board his views Monday and it was announced that other authorities in the field of medicine and justice will be consulted to provide a "rounded understanding of all aspects of the cases."

The board will take full account, the Air Force said, "of the mental and physical suffering endured by many prisoners." It also will take account, however, of the "responsibilities of military men in war."

The board will recommend whether individuals should be cleared, what future they should have in the Air Force and whether court martial charges should be brought.

The number of men involved was said to be between 50 and 100. A total of 220 Air Force men were repatriated, out of 891 listed as missing when the war ended.

Schlundt Breaks Free Throw Record in 90-77 Indiana Win; Illinois Beats Purdue, 89-55

CHICAGO — Indiana's sizzling Hoosiers all but had a lock on their second straight undisputed Big Ten basketball championship today after shellacking their closest tormentor, Minnesota, in Monday night's feature game.

Branch McCracken's wonder boys pulled out all the stops on their home floor and won going away 90-77 with All-American center Don Schlundt breaking a Big Ten free throw record on the way to racking up 36 points.

Schlundt poured in 14 straight gift tosses to surpass the mark of 13 for 13 set by Ohio State's Dick Schmitt against Indiana in 1950. Schlundt, who retained his spot atop the individual scoring leaders with a 30.5 mark for eight conference games, was helped tremendously by the dazzling floor work of Bobby Leonard who played with an injured hip incurred last Saturday.

Iowa Wins, 86-68 Leonard's passing and rebounding was little short of sensational and the junior guard pushed in 18 points for the night.

Indiana's margin might have been greater but for the performance of veteran Minnesota guard Chuck Mencil who netted 12 field goals and 9 free throws for 33 points.

The victory, second straight for the Hoosiers over Minnesota, gave them an unblemished 8-0 conference mark and shoved the Gophers into third place with a 6-2 record.

Only Iowa, which walloped Michigan 86-68 Monday night, appeared to have a chance of catching the high flying Hoosiers. Iowa has a 7-1 conference mark.

Iowa, led by center Bill Logan's 23 points, turned on the power in the final period to score 29 points and slam the door on Michigan's chances.

The Hawkeyes led by only 6 points at the start of the final quarter but Logan, forward Bill Schoof and sophomores Carl Cain and Deacon Davis hit for 11 straight field goals to insure the lopsided victory.

Purdue No Match for Illinois Illinois, all but out of contention for conference honors, led all the way to slaughter last place Purdue, 89-55, with the Illini's star center, red-haired Johnny Kerr, tossing in 27 points.

The Boiler-makers were simply no match for Illinois. Kerr and his mates scored at a steady pace and led 42-26 at the half and 64-41 at the end of the third period.

In the only other conference action Monday night Northwestern whipped Ohio State 89-71 in a battle for eighth place.

The Wildcats were paced by Larry Kurka, a Chicago senior who played forward for the first time in his career and consistently hit on one-handed push shots for 26 points.

Robin Freeman, a sophomore guard from Cincinnati led the Buckeyes with 24.

All conference teams except Michigan State are idle until Saturday when five contests are scheduled. Michigan State hosts Notre Dame tonight in the only non-conference game of the week.

Bull Dogs Play Eagles Tonight

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs tonight play host to the Eldorado Eagles, only team they have beaten this year.

It was on the night of Dec. 11, 1953, that the locals travelled to Eldorado and came home with a 57-56 victory.

Richard Gidcumb got hot that night and scored 24 points, also doing an outstanding job of rebounding, as the Bull Dogs eked out a victory.

Jim Omohundro, with 22 points, was high scorer for Eldorado.

The two teams met again in the Saline county tournament the night of Jan. 29 and this time Eldorado won. Although this tilt was close all the way, Eldorado won by a more comfortable margin of 54 to 47.

In this tilt Paul Mackovjak scored 18 and Ron McRoy had 17 for Eldorado, with Harrisburg's high scorers being Dave Harrison and Gidcumb, who had 12 points each.

So tonight is the rubber game of the three season tilts. The main attraction will start around 8:15 p. m., preceded by a contest between the schools' freshman-sophomore teams.

Furgol Wins Playoff With Middlecoff for Phoenix Championship

PHOENIX, Ariz. — Hard luck pro Ed Furgol won a double victory with his 11th-hour win over Cary Middlecoff in the dramatic overtime playoff that gave him the $10,000 Phoenix Open golf championship.

It was the first major tournament triumph since 1947 for the St. Louis, Mo., veteran.

Furgol, tied with Middlecoff at the end of 72 holes, Sunday with identical scores of 272 and trailed the Memphis, Tenn., dentist by two strokes going into the 18th hole of the playoff Monday.

But fate, and a decision by Middlecoff against using a No. 2 iron on his second shot on the 18th, took a hand. Middlecoff's second shot on the 18th zoomed far to the left of the green, against a wire fence.

Middlecoff took six strokes on the par five hole, while Furgol, whose second shot landed in a trap, sank a putt of about 12 to 15 feet for a birdie that tied the two golfers at 71—even par—for the playoff.

Friday night the Dairy Brand team will travel to Christopher to play in a March of Dimes benefit game.

Golfers Interested In a Local Course To Meet Tonight

Possibilities of Saline county golfers having a course of their own are quite favorable, it was learned today, and a meeting of all interested golfers in the area has been called for 7 o'clock tonight in the council room of the city hall.

Jack Davenport, Charles D. Taylor, and other interested local golfers have been negotiating with Charles Kurto on the use of the Kurto Country Club facilities, and now have some definite information to report, hence the meeting.

Looking AT Sports

By ED KIRKPATRICK

Another night of top-notch basketball is in store for hardwood fans in this area this evening with Harrisburg entertaining Eldorado, Thompsonville invading Galatia, and Carrier Mills hosting McLeansboro. In addition to all this, Equality will recognize its basketball queen in an appropriate ceremony tonight between the halves of its game with Cave-in-Rock. Ridgway is at Norris City.

Gymnasiums at Harrisburg, Carrier Mills and Galatia will probably be packed for the battles of longtime cage rivals. Harrisburg's lone victory of the season came at the expense of Eldorado, but the Eagles avenged this setback during the Saline county tourney last month. Tonight's game provides a rubber match.

Galatia and Thompsonville—both leaders of their respective conference—will be meeting for the second time this season. Earlier, the Bearcats smothered the Tigers, 103-69, and naturally, revenge will be uppermost in the minds of Bob Munday's quintet. Thompsonville warmed up for the affair by walloping Tamaroa last week, 102-61. Both schools have lost but four games all season.

In the Greater Egyptian conference, Galatia is still leading the way with 10 victories and no defeats. Brookport, however, is hot in pursuit with a 9-1 record. Each club has two more conference games to play—one of these affairs being with each other. This Brookport-Galatia tilt, scheduled at Galatia, Friday, Feb. 19, will in all probability, be the decider. Galatia plays at Pope Co. this Friday evening while Brookport treks to Cave-in-Rock.

Shawneetown, defending GEC champs, is now resting in fourth place. It has a mathematical chance of finishing the season in third spot, a berth now held by Tim O'Brien's Pope Co. Pirates. Both clubs have two league games remaining.

Here are the complete current GEC standings:

| Team         | W  | L  | Pct.  |
|--------------|----|----|-------|
| Galatia      | 10 | 0  | 1.000 |
| Brookport    | 9  | 1  | .909  |
| Pope Co.     | 6  | 5  | .545  |
| Shawneetown  | 6  | 6  | .500  |
| Vienna       | 4  | 6  | .400  |
| Rosiclare    | 4  | 7  | .364  |
| Cave-in-Rock | 3  | 8  | .273  |
| Ridgway      | 2  | 10 | .167  |

Thompsonville, defending Little Egyptian conference champ and current leader of that circuit, is fighting desperately to retain the title. It has a fine 11-1 loop record, but Royalton—a thorn in the side of the Tigers this year—still has an outside chance of finishing ahead of the Thompsonville cagers. Royalton has a 9-2 record. Thompsonville has two more league games, Royalton three.

McLeansboro's Foxes will be out to abolish Carrier Mills' home record of 26 straight victories without a defeat. The Foxes also have a setback to atone for, having lost to the Wildcats, 69-71, at McLeansboro last month. Both teams have impressive season records.

At Equality, the hapless Cardinals will be endeavoring to end their nine game losing streak. "Kayo" Willis' charges haven't won a game since the Equality tournament in early December. At that time, the Cardinals turned back Crab Orchard in an overtime for consolation honors.

Senior Barbara Roe will be crowned queen at the Equality coronation festivities. Her senior attendant will be Patty Hines. Others named attendants are Barbara Fink, junior; Sue Wargel, sophomore, and Linda Mahan, freshman. Members of the basketball squad made the selections.

JUST DRIBBLING—Barney Genisio, Shawneetown high mentor, is looking for a couple schools to schedule for next year on a home-and-home arrangement. Anyone desiring to tangle with the Indians next season, contact Barney.

Al Penman, who inherited all kinds of basketball player losses in taking over at Ridgway last fall, still isn't batting any better. Al was looking forward to the return of veteran Ronnie Rister to the squad, Rister's parents having moved back to that community recently. But alas, they didn't move their furniture with them, hence the IHSA ruled young Rister still ineligible. McLeansboro's Foxes stopped four-fifths of Christopher's cage quintet the other night, winning handily, 80-52, but could not halt one of southern Illinois' top point producers, Bob Kerkemeyer.

The crafty Christopher cager collected 35 points. Grayville joined the Thompsonville last week in the "high point club." The Edwards county team racked up a 107-43 victory over Enfield.

THE STORY: Grete Marratt, a fugitive from justice, is hiding under the identity of Luke Usher, whom he resembles. Luke disappeared 15 years ago, after accusing Rancher Clem Ryerson of murdering Jake Usher, his father. Marratt also has learned that Ryerson's ranch, Wineglass, had sold Usher cattle to Beckwith, the Indian agent. Marratt believed he was following Beckwith to Wineglass, when he discovered two sets of tracks and presently hears someone behind him. Hiding, Marratt sees Beckwith riding rapidly toward Wineglass. But Marratt follows the other sets of tracks and presently hears voices.

Leaving the gelding, Marratt commenced snaking forward, ears cocked and eyes wary, through the green sheen of oak brush, making all the haste possible commensurate with caution.

He shoved through a 10-foot stand of brush and, without warning was upon them. They stood caught together—one lithely slender, the other short and chunky—before the farther-off shapes of their ground-hitched horses. In the apparent ardor of their embrace the nearer, chunky hombre almost wholly concealed his companion and it wasn't until, with a desperate wrench of slim shoulders, she got one hand loose and tried to get at his pistol that Marratt realized the brawny one had hold of a woman.

Marratt hung there uncertainly a couple of heartbeats before the true significance of their postures registered. It took him that long to untrack his mind from the accepted misconception that, because she must have been awaiting him, she welcomed the man's attentions. But when he saw the fellow growling, cuff her hand away from his belt gun, Marratt flung himself forward.

Through a red fog of anger he caught the man by the nearest shoulder and spun him around with a berserk fury. His sledging right fist exploded against the man's jaw, sending him crazily staggering slantways as though he'd crashed into the end of a maul. It wasn't till then Marratt saw the girl fully.

He stood rooted in the astonishment of complete incredulity, knowing her now for the girl of the tank—for the Circe of Beckwith's office. A clamor of questions hammered his mind until the girl's cry snatched his glance from her face to pick up the tag end of the man's blurred reach for gun butt.

Marratt threw himself toward him and a bit to the right, at the same time dropping his chest toward his knees as the whistle of head screamed above his left shoulder. With the man's wrist flexing to shake out another shot Marratt's lifting boot tore the gun from his fingers. He was reeling, half upright, when Marratt's fist landed with the sound of a pile-driver just below his left ear. He went spread-eagled and skidding across the clattering shale.

When Marratt looked for the girl she was gone with both horses, the hard drumming impact of their hoofs tumbling off the gulch walls in brittle shatters of sound. Marratt, rubbing the knuckles of his bruised fist went over and stood awhile considering the now slack-jawed features of the squaw molester. He had burnt-dark cheeks that were hightoned and solid as the muscles that bulged the whole short and broad shape of him. His black hair was straight as a Papago Indian's.

But this was no Indian. He looked like a transplanted Texican to Marratt with his low-slung shell belt and grease-grimed open-topped thong-fastened holster. Scowling down at the man Marratt was almost glad those big knobs of hands hadn't managed to lay hold of him.

On a random thought he bent and picked up the man's crown-dented headgear. There, burned into the gommy-feeling sweat-band with a bit of hot wire, was the bravo's handle: Churk Crafin.

Marratt suddenly remembered how the old doc had used the name. They'd been talking about Ryerson and Frailey had advised, "What Wineglass says is same as law in these sandhills—the marshal's his man just as much as Churk Crafin."

Marratt dropped Crafin's hat and reckoned he'd better cut a shuck toward Usher's before some more of Ryerson's range-roughing maverick makers got wind of him.

Next time, likely enough, the breaks would be with Wineglass and Churk Crafin, a hired gun thrower probably. The idea didn't raise the cow king much in Marratt's opinion, but it fit snug enough with the rest he'd learned about Ryerson. Marratt pushed on. This gulch wasn't his idea of the kind of a place a man would want to be trapped in. Besides, his gymnastics with Crafin hadn't helped the convalescing of that bullet track.

Before Marratt had gone far he turned back. He hated to waste time, but he'd come here for information and even one fact could be a sight more valuable than the mess of loose ends he now held.

The girl had gone off with Crafin's horse and there was no sign of the burly gunfighter when Marratt came into the clearing.

Apparently the guy had found his gun and struck out for the ranch. They'd soon have the whole crew out scouring this country.

It was horse tracks Marratt had returned to look at and when he found them he knew it was the girl, not Crafin, he'd trailed into this gulch. She hadn't been waiting for Crafin. He'd been waiting here for her.
